

June 30, 2010

Written by NickyBear's Momma
Wednesday, 30 June 2010 18:46 -

Baby's ANC is at 0 today and he has a fever of 99.6 which means we are automatically admitted inpatient for at a minimum of 48 hours. We knew this would probably happen since he gets fevers often for no real reason. They took cultures and they take 48 hours to come back so that is why it is the minimum. So now we just pray for no infection and that his counts go up soon. They automatically put him on Sepapem an antibiotic that is combating anything he may have while his counts are low. They have this process down like a drill.