

October 22, 2010

Written by NickyBear's Momma

Friday, 22 October 2010 15:45 - Last Updated Tuesday, 02 November 2010 17:05

Day 4 and you are 13 months old today too! So glad it ran on time and Baby Nicholas' port is de-accessed today. That means he has no lines running from his body at all! We had an appointment at Nemours with Dr. Sandler just a normal check up. It went well and we have the rest of the weekend together.

We went to the Jacksonville Landing across the river today and had lunch at some Italian place and it was the first time we sat down with Nicholas in a high chair at a restaurant like this and he did well. It was a nice change of pace from the months of being inpatient at St. Jude.