

October 27, 2010

Written by NickyBear's Momma
Tuesday, 26 October 2010 23:11 -

Day 7 of Proton - complete! I met with my new Dr. today ... Dr. Indelicato AKA Dr. Danny - I was in shock listening to the risks and side effects that I was told were not a problem from the previous doctor. The negligence is disguising to say the least. I was thankful to finally know the truth but this just should not be happening 7 treatments in and then to find out the new equipment is still not here so today they still used the other plan. I hope no parent ever experiences this process like this - this is just pathetic. My son's life and the one shot we have at his curative and no one seems to be on the same page and no one knows what is going on or why this happened. I have so many concerns, I don't know where to start this just shouldn't be happening.