

November 9, 2010

Written by NickyBear's Momma

Tuesday, 09 November 2010 12:06 - Last Updated Sunday, 14 November 2010 12:27

Day 16 of Proton...complete! Went home and napped and then Nicole, (Baby Wade's Momma) came to visit us. It's the first time I have seen her since her precious boy went to see Jesus. It's so good to see her, we didn't get to spend much time together before she got a call from home and her daughter was running a high fever. She felt like she needed to go home in the morning. She's going with me to the Proton Center in the morning and then going back to take care of Lauren. She's one of the only people I feel like I can tell anything to about this process and my fears and she understands me. I am blessed to have her.

Thank you Auntie Nicole for visiting us and thank you for the Toy Story Jammies and Movie we love you soooo much!