Ok so I wanted to clarify the post on facebook last night. I was drained and really upset. Baby Nicholas has been a little fussier in the last 3 days and he's been chewing on his hands, which makes me think he made have a few new teeth coming in though most are in. However his appetite hasn't been great probably due to chemo catching up with him. Last night he was super tired and we gave him his chemo (he is normal asleep when he gets it) about 5 to 10 minutes after that he was screaming and inconsolable arching his back. It's frustrating because he can't tell us whats wrong and so it put me in tears and Nick and I were both stressed out from it. He finally fell asleep and slept fine and woke up feeling fine ... so please pray that was a fluke ... and that it does not happen again.

God Bless you all thank you for being such great friends and caring so much please also post this link on your facebook accounts
