

August 24, 2010

Written by NickyBear's Momma

Monday, 23 August 2010 21:46 - Last Updated Sunday, 12 September 2010 22:01

Day 5 and still his ANC remains 0. They keep doing blood cultures because he gets fevers on and off still. They told us fever eat up platelets and so his platelets are at 38 after getting a transfusion yesterday. That tells you just how bad this virus /cold is kicking our little mans butt. This is our third platelet transfusion this round.

Dear Lord,

Please bless our platelet donor! It amazes me that someone took 2 hours of their time to give platelets and our boy needs them and it only takes 45 minutes to get them! Please watch over our boy - he's so weak and these fevers are scary to me. Please watch over him and shield him from cancer ever harming him again!