So we have our ENT test today! Dr. Thompson said it looked great, Nicholas' right vocal cord is crossing over - that means it is completely compensating for the left now and that means his swallow is finally strong enough for him to do the swallow study and by late next week - he will officially be eating again. Our God is soooo amazing and His timing is PERFECT. We are so thankful to God that he is recovering so well. Dr. Thompson whom I love having as our ENT is so informative and takes the time to explain everything. He said that Baby Nicholas has improved so much even under the treatment of chemo that could have stopped him completely from healing during this time.

Dear God,

TODAY I JUST WANT TO THANK YOU FOR YOUR HEALING HANDS !!!! WE will continue to pray for that Left vocal cord to kick in when Your timing is right. We feel so blessed today....
