Day four - they didn't draw a cbc so we have no clue where his ANC is today. He was acting fine all day and then BOOM... 102.4 temp out of no where so more cultures and that's an automatic 2 days added on to our stay. Not happy.... I am going to go stir crazyIf I am still here Wednesday I won't be happy, it's his first birthday and I don't want to spend it inpatient.

While walking with Nicholas and Nick we walked past Ryken and his family going to get a CAT scan, please people pray for our friend he's been so sick and we are worried about him. Precious Jesus please watch over Ryken tonight - we ask you to heal him completely so that he can finish this round of chemo.
