

December 3-5, 2010

Written by NickyBear's Momma

Sunday, 05 December 2010 03:57 - Last Updated Thursday, 16 December 2010 19:46

Packing and moving - boxes shipping back to Detroit and packing for St. Jude. so much stuff collected over the last 7 months away from home wow 7 months ... we made it though - this journey has truly defined me as a mother, wife, daughter, sister, friend and more. I just am so grateful to see my son's face everyday smiling and happy.

My Dad left with a packed car on Saturday and Nick and I finished up packing the lose ends to get to Jude - We arrived on time on Sunday and the shuttle from Jude picked us up. Wow back the to Jude, back at the Grizzle House on campus at St. Jude where we started the first week of June ... what a bizarre ride this has been ... Lord please watch over Nicholas and keep him safe - let everything be perfect so we can go home....